2. The meeting was attended by the six members of the Committee, representing the three regions of the Group of 77. Dr. Eduardo Praselj was elected chairman of the Committee for the biennium 2008-2009. The list of participants appears as annex I.

3. A representative of the Special Unit for South-South Cooperation of UNDP was invited to provide information on matters related to the PGTF. Two representatives of the Treasury Division of UNDP were also invited by the Committee to provide information on matters related to the yield of PGTF resources and the structure of the PGTF portfolio.

4. The Committee adopted the following substantive agenda:

1. Review of the operations of the PGTF;
2. Consideration of new project proposals;
3. Assessment of the implementation of approved projects;
4. Other matters.

5. The Committee had before it the following documents:

1. Forty (40) project proposals;
2. Twelve ((12) progress, terminal and financial reports;
3. Note by UNDP on the composition and yield of the PGTF portfolio;
4. Note by UNDP on the financial status of PGTF and the status of implementation of approved projects.

6. According to the information provided by UNDP, total available funds for supporting new project proposals in 2008 were US$506,800, including projected interest earnings until 31 December 2008. In line with guideline A(p) for utilization of PGTF, the maximum support that could be given to any individual project would be one seventh of this total, i.e. US$72,400.

II. REVIEW OF THE OPERATIONS OF PGTF

7. The Committee examined a number of operational issues regarding the performance of the PGTF, namely highlights of its operations, yield and expansion of its resources, associated costs and operational arrangements, guidelines for utilization of PGTF and survey on the impact of PGTF.

Highlights of twenty-one years of operation of PGTF (1986-2007)

8. In 1986, a High-level Meeting on ECDC held at Cairo defined the main features for launching operations of the PGTF, including definition of the objectives of the Fund and criteria for project eligibility, and operational arrangements for the submission, appraisal and approval of project proposals.

9. The trust fund was established with a core capital of US$5 million and increased to US$ 6 million in 2004 through a US$ 1 million contribution by a member country. According to guideline F(f) for its utilization, only the interest accruing on the Fund could be used for project support so as to preserve intact the initial US$5 million. Same criteria apply to additional core resources.

10. From 1986 to 2007, 610 projects proposals were submitted to the PGTF and, in accordance with the guidelines for its utilization, the Fund has provided support to 179 projects with a total allocation of US$10.1 million, i.e. a yearly average of 8.5 projects and US$476,000 respectively.

11. With a view to increasing the multiplier effect of PGTF resources, guideline A(m) for utilization of PGTF establishes that project sponsors should secure contributions from other sources of an amount at least equal to the contribution requested from PGTF. Contributions from other sources for the 1986-2007 period amount to US$ 20.8 million, i.e. US$2.1 for each US$ of PGTF resources.

12. A breakdown of the priority areas that have received support from PGTF is provided below:

Area	Number of projects	Share of allocated resources (%)
Food and agriculture .....	51	29
Consulting services, training and other TCDC activities.....	55	25

TOTAL	179	100

13. PGTF financial support has had a wide country coverage, as indicated in the breakdown below:

Country coverage	Number of projects	Share of allocated resources (%)

TOTAL	179	100

14. According to the status of implementation of approved projects as of 29 July 2008, PGTF support has been distributed as follows:

Status of implementation	Number of projects	Share of allocated resources (%)
Completed.....	115	73

TOTAL	179	100

15. The Committee welcomed the 2007 South-South Cooperation Award (category “Leadership”), presented to PGTF by the Special Unit for South-South Cooperation of the UNDP on the occasion of the Fourth United Nations Day for South-South Cooperation held in New York on 19 December 2007. This Award recognized the achievements of PGTF in the mobilization of resources through creative approaches and mechanisms.

Yield of PGTF resources

16. The Committee examined at its twenty-third meeting the status of the PGTF portfolio and yield of PGTF resources, in line with the recommendations contained in paragraphs 20-23 of the report of the Committee at its ninth meeting in 1994.

17. Total PGTF resources are constituted by the core capital (US$ 6 million) and unexpended resources. Pursuant to guideline F(f) for utilization of PGTF, the core capital should be preserved intact and only interest accrued and other earnings (i.e. additional contributions, reversion of allocated resources) could be used for supporting new projects. Between 1987 and 2007, total resources have been in the range of US$ 6.2 to 7.4 million.

18. PGTF resources are invested by the UNDP in accordance with its financial rules and regulations, and the investment policy is discussed and agreed upon with the PGTF Committee of Experts. Accordingly, the portfolio is fully invested with total holdings on a par value basis of US$6,844,640. It consists of two time deposits totaling US$3,000,000 (44 percent of total funds) and six bonds totaling US$3,440,000 (50 percent), while a small portion of the portfolio (US$404,640) is kept as liquidity in a money market fund (6 percent). Bonds maturities have a ladder structure: maturities of four of them are staggered from 2008 to 2011 (US$2,500,000 i.e. 36 percent of total resources) and for two bonds totaling US$940,000 (14 percent), maturities exceed five years (2013 and 2014). The total marked to market value of the portfolio as of 22 July 2008 was US$6,868,635.

19. Expected nominal yield of PGTF portfolio for 2008 is 4.37 percent per annum, but after adjusting for the purchase price of the securities, the effective yield would be 4.09 percent. This figure is lower than in 2007 but higher than in previous years (4.69 percent in 2007, 4.20 percent in 2006, 3.62 percent in 2005, 3.30 percent in 2004, and 2.91 percent in 2003), and reflects the decrease of interest rates as well as the investment strategy adopted for PGTF resources.

20. From January to July 2008, total disbursements made by UNDP to beneficiaries of PGTF-funded projects totaled US$204,398 compared to US$ 74,750 for the January-July 2007 period. This amount was paid by PGTF as inter-fund settlement to UNDP.

21. On the basis of PGTF portfolio as of 22 July 2008, the projected interest earnings for 2008 are US$ 270,945. The present and project structure of the portfolio is as follows:

Security	Face value (US$)	Maturity date	Coupon rate (%)	Buy price (% of face value)	Coupon payment (US$)	Effective Rate (%)	Effective 2008 income (US$)
Bonds and deposits matured between 1 January and 22 July 2008

Total	6,623,967		4.37		289,417	4.09	270,945

22. Several time deposits matured in the second half of 2007 and the proceeds were reinvested in short-term time deposits with maturities ranging from 3 to 7 months. This was done to take advantage of the spike in short term interest rates due to credit restrictions triggered by the sub-prime mortgage crisis and massive purchases of medium-term United States Treasuries.

23. As a result of the massive liquidity injections through credit and auction facilities triggered by the sub-prime mortgage losses and massive asset write-downs in international as well as in regional banks; there has been a significant change in the yield curve of the United States Treasuries. While in mid-2007 the curve was inverted in the 6 months to 3 years maturity range (i.e. shorter term treasuries had higher yields than longer term ones), by mid-2008 it had recovered its traditional shape, in particular due to the significant decline in short term interest rates (from 5.25 percent in August 2007 to 2 percent in April 2008). As a result, the 3 to 5 years range of maturities becomes the most attractive from the point of view of yield. Although inflation pressures have been high in the United States due to a combination of high oil prices and a weak United States currency, no adjustment in interest rates by the United States Federal Reserve is expected in the next six months, due to the perilous state of the economy in general and the housing sector in particular.

24. Two (2) time deposits and one bond in the amount of US$ 3,500,000 will mature between October 2008 and January 2009. In the light of the above, the investment strategy for the next 12 months would be as follows: (a) reinvest the maturing proceeds in bonds with a 3 to 5 years maturity, issued by supranational or sovereign financial corporations having at least an "A" credit rating and with a target interest rate of 4 percent per annum; and (b) drawdown the current money market fund balance (from US$ 400,000 to some US$ 184,000 by year-end) and combine with proceeds from the bond maturing in October 2008 when reinvesting in bonds mentioned in (a).

25. Performance of the PGTF portfolio is being measured on a quarterly basis against a benchmark (i.e. the 5-year U.S. Treasury) since the beginning of 2007. As a result of the adopted investment strategy, PGTF portfolio has outperformed the benchmark, as shown in the table below:

	1 st quarter 2007	2 nd quarter 2007	3 rd quarter 2007	4 th quarter 2007	1 st quarter 2008	2 nd quarter 2008
Benchmark (5 yr Treasury)	4.64%	4.76%	4.51%	3.79%	2.75%	3.15%
PGTF	4.61%	4.61%	4.79%	4.78%	4.43%	3.60%

26. This investment strategy represents the best option under the circumstances, but as indicated it translates into interest earnings of only US$ 270,945 for 2008. In addition, available resources have been increased by some US$ 236,000 coming from contributions by member countries (US$ 59,000) plus non-recurrent items such as funds reverted and other adjustments (US$ 177,000). In summary, total availability for 2008 is US$ 506,800, a figure slightly lower than in 2007. However, this amount is modest compared to the levels that prevailed in the 1990s, especially in real terms, and calls for actions aimed at expanding the resources of PGTF if the Fund is to remain responsive to support the growing needs for South-South cooperation. A breakdown of the availability of funds since 1990 is as follows:

Year	Available resources (thousand US$)
1990	1,218
1991	644
1992	900
1993	600
1994	300
1995	880
1996	800
1997	843
1998	1,294
1999	462

Year	Available resources (thousand US$)
2000	408
2001	796
2002	510
2003	246
2004	325
2005	348
2006	354
2007	520

Expansion of PGTF resources

27. The Committee reexamined practical ways of implementing its recommendations regarding the expansion of the PGTF resources as approved by the 20th Annual Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77 in 1996. As identified in 1996, options available for expanding PGTF resources fall within one of the following three categories: (a) increase of the resources of PGTF; (b) increase of the yield of the PGTF portfolio; and (c) increase of the multiplier effect of PGTF resources.

(a) Increase of the resources of PGTF

28. This option implies the enlisting of contributions from potential donors, which may include interested developed and developing countries as well as intergovernmental and non-governmental institutions and organizations.

Contributions by member countries of the Group of 77

29. On the basis of the experience gained from 1996 to 2004 and taking into account the recommendations contained in the Havana Programme of Action adopted by the First South Summit in 2000, the Committee reiterated its recommendation to focus initially on seeking contributions from member countries, as a way of building evidence of commitment and support that would represent a powerful argument when approaching donors, both countries and institutions.

30. The Committee welcomed seven (7) new contributions made since the last meeting of the Committee by seven (7) developing countries. These contributions totaled US$ 59,145, as follows:

Algeria (a sixth contribution of US$ 10,000);
Antigua and Barbuda (a first contribution of US$ 5,000);
China (a second contribution of US$ 20,000);
South Africa (a sixth contribution of US$ 7,645);
Suriname (a first contribution of US$ 1,500);
Uruguay (a first contribution of US$ 5,000); and
Venezuela (an eighth contribution of US$10,000)

31. The Committee also noted the fifty-six (56) contributions already made by twenty-three (23) developing countries up to 1 August 2007, namely:

1997: Mauritius (US$500);

1998: Pakistan (US$1,000), and Singapore (US$2,000);

1999: Islamic Republic of Iran (US$3,000), Democratic People's Republic of Korea (US$2,000), Cyprus (US$2,000), Thailand (US$2,000), Malaysia (US$2,000), Algeria (US$2,000), India (US$2,000), and Philippines (US$1,500);

2000: China (US$2,000), Democratic People's Republic of Korea (a second contribution of US$2,000), and Peru (US$2,000);

2002: United Republic of Tanzania (US$5,000), Cyprus (a second contribution of US$3,000), Democratic People's Republic of Korea (a fourth contribution of US$2,000), Thailand (a second contribution of US$2,290), and Egypt (a second contribution of US$2,000);

2003: Indonesia (US$2,000), Kuwait (US$3,000), Cyprus (a third contribution of US$2,775), South Africa (a second contribution of US$6,765), and Democratic People's Republic of Korea (a fifth contribution of US$2,000);

2004: Qatar (US$10,000), Thailand (a third contribution of US$2,000), Brazil (US$2,000), Algeria (a second contribution of US$10,000), Venezuela (one US$ 1 million contribution to the core capital of PGTF and four contributions of US$5,000 each), and Democratic People's Republic of Korea (a sixth contribution of US$ 2,000);

2005: Algeria (a third and a fourth contribution of US$10,000 each), Namibia (US$1,000), Islamic Republic of Iran (a second and a third contribution of US$10,000 each), South Africa (a third contribution of US$8,188), Venezuela (a sixth contribution of US$5,000), and Democratic People's Republic of Korea (a seventh contribution of US$ 2,000);

2006: Singapore (a third contribution of US$2,000), Brazil (a second contribution of US$20,000), Philippines (a second contribution of US$ 1,500), Trinidad and Tobago

(US$4,130), Algeria (a fifth contribution of US$10,000), and South Africa (a fourth contribution of US$8,016)

2007 Trinidad and Tobago (a second contribution of US$2,000), South Africa (a fifth contribution of US$6,667) and Islamic Republic of Iran (a fourth contribution of US$10,000).

32. In summary, up to 29 July 2008, PGTF has received sixty-three (63) contributions from twenty-six (26) developing countries. The total amount of contributions received is US$1,301,476, which includes the first contribution (US$ 1 million) to its core capital made by Venezuela. A breakdown of the contributions by size is as follows:

	Number of countries	Number of contributions	Contributions (US$)
Smaller contributions (up to US$ 5,000) .....	25	44	114,195
Larger contributions (more than US$ 5,000).....	7	18	187,281
Contributions to PGTF core capital	1	1	1,000,000
TOTAL	26(*)	63	1,301,476

(*) Some countries have made both smaller and larger contributions

33. The Committee also noted with satisfaction that thirteen developing countries, namely Venezuela (eight separate contributions); Democratic People's Republic of Korea (seven contributions); Algeria and South Africa (six contributions each), Islamic Republic of Iran (four contributions), Cyprus, Singapore, and Thailand (three contributions each); Brazil, China, Egypt, Philippines, and Trinidad and Tobago (two contributions each) have made multiple contributions to PGTF and invited other countries to follow this encouraging initiative.

34. As indicated in paragraphs 15-20 of the report of the special meeting held in June 2003, the Committee recommended two mutually supportive approaches to enlist contributions from member countries of the Group of 77, namely (i) to continue requesting small contributions (i.e., a notional amount of US$2,000) from all member countries as a sign of the commitment of the largest possible number; and (ii) to request larger contributions from member countries in a position to contribute more.

35. The effort for enlisting larger contributions was launched in mid-2003, and member countries were invited by the Chairman of the Group of 77 to announce contributions on the occasion of the United Nations Pledging Conference for Development Activities that was held in New York in November 2003. During the 2003 Conference, three member countries pledged contributions to PGTF.

36. Following this first encouraging experience, the Group of 77 sought a permanent arrangement that is now in effect, since PGTF has been included in the United Nations Pledging Conference for Development Activities, in accordance with the provisions of General Assembly resolution 58/220 of 23 December 2003. The results of the subsequent Pledging Conferences have been as follows:

Year	Number of pledges	Amount pledged (US$)
2004	3	16,000
2005	4	18,000
2006	3	28,016
2007	6	49,145
Cumulative	16	111,161

37. The Doha Plan of Action, adopted by the Second South Summit, held in Doha from 12 to 16 June 2005 welcomed the progress made so far by PGTF in support of South-South cooperation and called upon member countries, as well as the United Nations system to support the expansion of PGTF resources through regular contributions at the annual Pledging Conference.

Contributions by international institutions

38. Consultations have been held with a number of international institutions with a view to exploring their interest in either making contributions to PGTF resources or co-financing projects with PGTF. The experience so far indicates that a practical and flexible approach should be adopted in order to find common grounds for undertaking joint activities from the point of view of both areas of interest or priority and working procedures.

39. In late 2006, a Grant Agreement was signed by the International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD) and PGTF, providing for a contribution of US$ 200,000 over a two (2) year period, to be disbursed in two installments of US$100,000 each. 95 percent of these resources would be utilized to support projects on the basis of a mutually agreed Annual Work Plan and Budget (AWPB), while the remaining 5 percent would cover PGTF and UNDP overheads.

40. The AWPB for 2007 was prepared and submitted by PGTF, and approved by IFAD. As a result, the first tranche of US$ 100,000 was disbursed by IFAD in August 2007 and three (3) projects received funding with an allocation of US$ 95,000 to support the projects and US$ 5,000 to cover PGTF and UNDP overheads. Two of the three projects are currently under implementation (cf. projects INT/08/K02 and INT/08/K05), while the third is still under preparation (cf. project INT/08/K09).

41. One of the requisites for the disbursement of the second US$ 100,000 tranche is that a minimum of 75 percent of the resources of the first tranche had actually been spent. In light of the fact that two of the three projects have implementation periods that exceed one year (i.e. 36 months for INT/08/K02 and 18 months for INT/08/K05), the spending requisite is likely to be fulfilled in 2009, when a new AWPB could be submitted.

42. The Committee wished to commend again IFAD for its contribution and the support provided by IFAD to South-South cooperation activities carried out jointly with PGTF. The Committee considers that the present IFAD-PGTF Grant Agreement represents an excellent pilot experience and will ensure that it becomes a successful undertaking that could be expanded and extended, and replicated with other international institutions.

Impact of contributions to PGTF resources

43. In the light of the sizeable reduction in interest rates in recent years, contributions have become critical in supplementing interest earnings and thus partially preserving the responsiveness of PGTF to the growing needs for supporting South-South cooperation. As indicated in the table below, in 2004, 2005, 2006 and 2007 contributions respectively increased by 25, 46, 44 and 77 percent the availability of resources provided by interest earnings of the initial core capital, and up to 29 July 2008 they have increased it by 24 percent. It should be noted that more contributions might be forthcoming during the rest of the year since PGTF has received seven pledges still to be paid from seven member countries for a total of US$ 52,000.

44. Impact of contributions made to PGTF on the availability of resources in the last five years has been as follows:

Impact of new contributions	2004	2005	2006	2007	2008

(b) Increase of the yield of the PGTF portfolio

45. Bearing in mind that preservation of the PGTF core resources should be the paramount consideration when exploring investment options, investment strategies have aimed at taking the best advantage of prevailing market conditions at any given moment. In 2003, following a request by the Committee of Experts, the UNDP Investment Committee approved that up to 20 percent of the PGTF portfolio could be invested in securities issued by supranational and government agencies with up to ten year maturities so as to increase returns. This led to the purchase of longer-term securities (maturing in 2013 and 2014), which represented by late-July 2008 14 percent of PGTF portfolio. In the second half of 2008 this percentage is likely to remain unchanged since the most attractive range of maturities is 3 to 5 years, and there is no incentive to invest in securities with longer maturities.

46. In the light of the weakness of the United States currency, the possibility of investing in other currencies has been discussed on a preliminary basis. However, this is an option that would require further analysis and careful consideration, in particular with regard to merits and risks associated to the foreign exchange exposure that would be instilled in the PGTF portfolio

47. In addition, new UNDP rules and regulations allow investing in high-quality corporate securities, which could have higher yields than instruments traditionally utilized. This option is still to be fully explored and implemented, but under the current economic circumstances it does not seem advisable in the near future.

(c) Increase of the multiplier effect of PGTF resources through co-financing with other institutions

48. The Committee recommended that consultations and discussions currently underway with institutions interested in co-financing projects with the PGTF be continued. In addition to the case-by-case approach that stems from guideline A(m) for utilization of PGTF, which requires that all proposals submitted to PGTF should include inputs from other sources of an amount at least equal to the resources requested from PGTF, efforts have been made to achieve more structured agreements with some institutions, aimed at providing continuity to co-financing activities.

Guidelines for the utilization of PGTF resources

49. According to the standard practice, proposals received after the established deadline of 30 April 2008 of each year were considered as automatically submitted to the next meeting of the Committee, which would be normally held the following year. With a view to ensuring that these proposals were still relevant, up-to-date and continued to be within the submitting entities' priorities, the Committee recommended in the report of its 20th meeting held in 2005 that submitting entities be requested to resubmit these late proposals, in their original form or updated as appropriate, before the deadline of the following year. Even though the Office of the Chairman of the Group of 77 has timely informed all the late proposals' submitters that they should resubmit the proposals, only a limited number has actually replied to this request. Concerned by the fact that lack of information or uncertainty regarding interest of the submitters or validity of the proposals might mislead the Committee in its consideration of the proposals, it was recommended to include a new guideline to this effect, which would read as follows:

“Project proposals received after the established deadline of each given year would not be considered by the Committee at its meeting of that year and consideration would be deferred to the next meeting of the Committee. However, these proposals would only be considered by the Committee if the submitting entities resubmit these proposals, in their original form or updated as appropriate, before the deadline of the following year”.

Operating arrangements

50. The Committee examined the operating arrangements of PGTF and agreed to focus on dissemination of information on PGTF. In this regard, the Committee was informed of the significant improvements in the information available in the PGTF section of the website of the Group of 77 (www.g77.org), which includes:

- a. Comprehensive and easily accessible information regarding PGTF main features, aimed at facilitating the preparation and submission of proposals to PGTF, including the guidelines for utilization of PGTF, model formats and checklists in the working languages of the Group of 77, as well as the full texts of the reports of all the meetings of the PGTF Committee of Experts held since 1987;
- b. Full texts of the final reports (in their original languages) of the majority of the PGTF-funded projects that have been completed. In order to facilitate and encourage direct communications and exchanges between the institutions that implemented these projects and other interested parties in the developing countries, a summary of the main features of each completed project and detailed contact information is provided in addition to the reports.

51. While translations of the project summaries into the working languages of the Group of 77 are being envisaged, their inclusion in the present structure of the PGTF section of the website will require an additional programming effort that might take some time.

52. The Committee commended the work done in this regard by the Office of the Chairman and recommended that the Permanent Missions of the Group of 77, as well as the institutions and organizations of the developing countries that normally interact with PGTF, be informed of these new developments and encouraged to take advantage of them.

53. The Committee also discussed about new operating arrangements aimed at ensuring better and smoother functioning of the PGTF, including ways and means to better balance the geographical distribution of incoming proposals and ensure adequate responsiveness of PGTF in the light of significant fluctuations in the availability of resources, stemming from the prevailing volatility of financial markets and interest rates. The Committee decided to continue following up on these issues with a view to making timely recommendations and adjustments, as appropriate.

Survey of the impact of PGTF

54. On the basis of the recommendation of the Committee at its twelfth meeting in 1997, a survey on the impact and benefits of the projects funded by PGTF was initiated in 1998, with a view to supporting the promotion of the Fund. To date the Office of the Chairman has received information on 78 of the 115 PGTF-supported projects that have been completed. A summary of the results of the survey is presented in Annex III of this report.

- (1) Project for the establishment of a community center on support, counseling, human rights and gender equality in Western Africa
- (2) Innovations on water and energy distribution, and sewage treatment for poor populations
- (3) Training and Mentoring Program for Facilitators of Integrated Sustainable Rural Development in the Kingdoms of Lesotho and Swaziland

(4) *Training of Trainers on HIV and AIDS Mainstreaming at communities in Lesotho and Swaziland

57. The Office of the Chairman should request the submitting entities to resubmit these late proposals not later than 30 April 2009, in their original form or updated as appropriate, for consideration at the next meeting of the Committee. As recommended by the Committee, the requirement for resubmission of the late proposals will become mandatory in 2009 since it will be adopted as a new guideline for utilization of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 1 - *Investigating the Anti microbial Activities and Development of Pesticides from Honey Bee Propolis

58. The University of Jordan, based in Amman, Jordan, submitted the proposal through the Permanent Mission of Jordan to the United Nations. No other participating countries are identified in the proposal.

59. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to investigate the anti microbial effect of propolis (bee glue) collected by honeybees from different flora on plant diseases, with the aim of developing environmentally friendly pesticides to control some of the most important plant diseases.

60. The supporting documentation indicates that the expected duration of the project is two (2) years, but provides no cost estimates or budget figures.

61. The Committee noted that this proposal was submitted in 2007 after the 30 April deadline, but it was not resubmitted by the sponsors for the 2008 project cycle, as required by the recommendation contained in paragraph 46 of the report of the Twentieth meeting of the Committee, held in 2005. Moreover, the Committee considered that, in addition to being an incomplete proposal, both the scope and activities provided in the documentation correspond to a national project that is not eligible for funding from PGTF resources, as stated in guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF.

62. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No.2 - *Monitoring of Chlorinated Hydrocarbon Pesticides in the Kherbet Assamra Region in Jordan

63. The University of Jordan and the Royal Scientific Society, both based in Amman, Jordan, submitted the proposal through the Permanent Mission of Jordan to the United Nations. The proposal does not identify any other participating countries.

64. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to monitor the persistent organic pollutants (POPs) (chlorinated hydrocarbon pesticides) residues in the Kherbet Assamra region in Jordan, as an important suspected contamination site with a view to detecting and monitoring POPs in (a) soil samples at different depths, (b) waste water both in and outlet treatment samples, (c) agricultural commodities from cultivated plants nearby the Kherbet Assamra waste water treatment station, and (d) mothers' milk in the area.

65. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a two (2) year period, is estimated at US$ 299,800 and the contribution sought from PGTF amounts to US$ 50,000. Others contribution comes from the project sponsors, namely the University of Jordan (US$134,800) and the Royal Scientific Society (US$115,000). A breakdown of the total cost is presented below:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Personnel	12,000	125,800	137,800
Collection of samples	15,520	0	15,520
Samples analysis (gas chromatography)	19,000	40,000	59,000

Other	3,480	0	3,480
Total	50,000	249,800	299,800

66. The Committee noted that this proposal was submitted in 2007 after the 30 April deadline, but it was not resubmitted by the sponsors for the 2008 project cycle, as required by the recommendation contained in paragraph 46 of the report of the Twentieth meeting of the Committee, held in 2005. In addition, the Committee considered that, on the basis of the documentation provided, both the objectives and activities of the proposal correspond to a national project that is not eligible for funding from PGTF resources, as stated in guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF.

67. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No.3 - Biological Decontamination of Mycotoxins Contaminated Feeds, Eggs and Poultry Meats

68. The University of Jordan submitted the proposal through the Permanent Mission of Jordan to the United Nations. The supporting documentation contains no indication of other participating countries.

69. Mycotoxins are a group of naturally occurring toxins, they include the aflatoxins that are considered as potential carcinogens and can cause toxicity in mammalian and avian species. The potential source of human exposure to aflatoxins is through ingestion of contaminated food as grains, peanuts, tree nuts, and cottonseed meal where aflatoxin-producing fungi commonly grow. Also, poultry meat, eggs, milk and other edible products from animals that consume aflatoxin-contaminated feed are additional sources of potential exposure. Mycotoxins have a significant economic and commercial impact: (a) both the productivity and nutritive value of the infected cereal and forage are affected, and (b) in farm animals, mycotoxins have negative effects on production, reproductive rate, growth efficiency and immunological defense, as well as causing damage to the liver and kidneys.

70. According to the text of proposal, the aim of the project is to isolate suitable microorganisms from soil samples and to decontaminate the aflatoxin or aflatoxin metabolites in poultry feed, meat and eggs by biological means in order to recuperate mycotoxin contaminated commodities and protect the poultry industry as well as human health in Jordan.

71. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a thirty (30) month period, is estimated at US$107,350 and the contribution sought from PGTF amounts to US$79,100. A breakdown of the total cost is provided below:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Personnel	25,425	0	25,425
Transportation	2,825	0	2,825
Equipment	31,075	0	31,075
Operating expenses	0	28,250	28,250
Other	19,775	0	19,775
Total	79,100	28,250	107,350

72. The Committee noted that this proposal was submitted in 2007 after the 30 April deadline, but it was not resubmitted by the sponsors for the 2008 project cycle, as required by the recommendation contained in paragraph 46 of the report of the 20th meeting of the Committee, held in 2005. In addition, since inputs from other sources only amount to US$ 28,250, support of PGTF would be limited to this amount as stated in guideline A(m) for utilization of PGTF resources. Finally, the Committee considered that, on the basis of the documentation provided, both the objectives and activities of the proposal correspond to a national project that is not eligible for funding from PGTF resources, as stated in guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF.

73. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 4 - Biomass Accumulation and Nutrient Dynamics of Saltbushes in Low Rainfall Areas of Jordan

74. The University of Jordan, based in Amman, Jordan, submitted this proposal through the Permanent Mission of Jordan to the United Nations. The proposal contains no indication of other participating countries.

75. Rehabilitation of degraded rangelands is limited by low rainfall and unfavorable soil physical condition. Because of drought and scarcity of precipitation, fodder shrubs are preferred to herbaceous species for rangeland re-vegetation. In this regard, several species of saltbushes are strong candidates for plant establishment in desert rangelands because of their tolerance to salinity and fairly high forage productivity. In Jordan, there is an increasing argument regarding the rehabilitation of degraded rangelands through remediation approaches and their associated costs. In this regard, the nutritional properties of cultivated shrubs compared to native vegetation, acceptance of fodder plantations by animals (goats and sheep), costs of re-vegetation and acceptance by pastoral communities are the main critical issues hindering the scaling out of fodder plantations in the desert rangelands of Jordan. To date, there is no published data on biomass accumulation and dynamics of nutrient contents with progressive age of cultivated shrubs compared to those of native plants species in Jordan.

76. According to the text of the proposal, the objectives of the project are: (a) to monitor annual biomass production of native vegetation and cultivated saltbushes for several growing seasons, (b) to determine nutrient concentration in the browse of cultivated saltbushes and forage of native vegetation, and (c) to compute the nutritional index of native vegetation and cultivated saltbushes compared to that of conventional feedstuffs.

77. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a five (5) year period, is estimated at Jordanian Dinars 37,330 (equivalent to US$52,725 at the July 2008 United Nations operational rate of exchange). There is no indication of the contribution requested from PGTF or of the source of other contributions. A breakdown of the total cost is provided below:

(*) No breakdown was provided in the supporting documentation

78. The Committee noted that this proposal was submitted in 2007 after the 30 April deadline, but it was not resubmitted by the sponsors for the 2008 project cycle, as required by the recommendation contained in paragraph 46 of the report of the Twentieth meeting of the Committee, held in 2005. The proposal was incomplete since there is no indication of the contribution requested from PGTF or of the amount of other sources contribution, as required by the guidelines for utilization of PGTF. In addition, the Committee considered that, on the basis of the documentation provided, both the objectives and activities of the proposal correspond to a national project that is not eligible for funding from PGTF resources, as stated in guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF.

79. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 5 - Research Capacity Building in Higher Education Institutions in Southern Africa

80. The National University of Science and Technology (NUST) based in Bulawayo, Zimbabwe, submitted the proposal through the Permanent Mission of Zimbabwe to the United Nations. Other participating countries would be Botswana, Namibia, Swaziland and Zambia.

81. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to build capacity by training staff from higher education institutions, mainly universities, in research methodology and policy development and analysis. The training will place great emphasis on preparation of grant proposals, implementation of research projects, documentation of research findings and knowledge translation. To this end, the project main activities include: (a) establishment of a regional course on research methodology and science and technology policy development and analysis, (b) development of modules for the proposed course, (c) training of young scientists from participating higher education institutions, and (d) assessment of research activities in the participating higher education institutions.

82. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a two (2) year period, is estimated at US$ 92,000. The contribution requested from PGTF amounts to US$ 42,000 and others contribution is a US$ 50,000 grant of the Kellogg Foundation to NUST. A breakdown of the total cost is as follows:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Personnel	6,300	()	()

83. The Committee noted that this proposal was submitted in 2007 after the 30 April deadline, but it was not resubmitted by the sponsors for the 2008 project cycle, as required by the recommendation contained in paragraph 46 of the report of the Twentieth meeting of the Committee, held in 2005.

84. The requirement for resubmission of late proposals will become in 2009 part of the guidelines for utilization of PGTF and failing to comply would result in non consideration of the proposal. However, in the light of the fact that the Committee considered that this proposal addressed a very important area of cooperation, i.e. capacity building, involving five higher education institutions from the participating countries, and complies in general with the guidelines for utilization of PGTF resources, the Committee agreed to positively consider the proposal within the transition from the current operational request for resubmission to the mandatory condition that will prevail in 2009.

85. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal avail from the financing of PGTF and that US$ 35,000 be allocated to this end. This contribution should be disbursed in two tranches, disbursement of the second tranche being subject to the timely submission of substantive and financial reports.

Project proposal No. 6 - Preliminary study of project on renewable energy, geothermal energy in particular

86. The Permanent Mission of Comoros to the United Nations submitted the proposal, which provides no indication of other participating countries.

87. The Committee found that the supporting documentation made available contained only the transmittal letter, which broadly described the problem but provided no information on project objectives, activities, duration or budget. It was therefore not possible to assess the proposal and determine whether it would be eligible for funding. However, as described in the transmittal letter, the proposal seemed to correspond to a national project that is not eligible for funding from PGTF resources, as stated in guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF.

88. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 7 - Characterization of Recent Sediments across the Red Sea using multiple analytical techniques: Comparison between the Jordanian, Egyptian and Saudi Costs

89. The Nuclear Materials Authority, based in Cairo, Egypt submitted directly the proposal. Other participating countries would be Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

90. The Gulf of Aqaba is an area that has been poorly studied from the mineralogical and geomorphologic points of view, and has not been explored for economic minerals to a satisfactory degree. The objective of the project, according to the text of the proposal, is to study the mineral occurrences and the geomorphology of the area through several ground-based and remote sensing methods. The geomorphology (i.e. coastal stability, landscape features, erosion, etc.) is important in supporting decision-making regarding resources and land development efforts along the Red Sea.. In addition, the project will build capacity and train student on various analytical techniques, including reflectance spectroscopy.

91. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a two (2) year period, is estimated at US$103,700 and the contribution being requested from PGTF amounts to US$ 90,000. A breakdown of the total cost is provided below:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Personnel	()	()	27,200
Travel	()	()	16,500
Materials and equipment	()	()	30,000
Spectral and chemical analyses	()	()	30,000
Total	90,000	13,700	103,700

(*) No breakdown was provided in the supporting documentation

92. The Committee found that it was not possible to ascertain the cooperative element of the project, as required by guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF. Even though the beneficiary countries (Jordan and Saudi Arabia) are identified in the proposal, the supporting documentation contains no written evidence of their interest in participating as required by the guidelines. In addition, inputs from other sources are significantly lower than the resources requested from PGTF and this would limit to US$13,700 the maximum support that could be given to the project, according to the provisions of guideline A(m). While in the proposal there is an indication that the Jackson School of Geosciences would provide in in-kind resources matching PGTF contribution, it is unclear how this would be achieved since funding of the project activities as presented would have to be made in cash.

93. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 8 - Integrated environmental conservation project proposal

94. The Bidii Women Self Help Group (WSHG), a non-profit non-governmental organization based in Kitui, Eastern Province, Kenya, submitted directly the proposal. No other participating countries are mentioned in the supporting documentation.

95. Environmental degradation, especially in the fragile and semiarid lands of Kenya, has increased over the last two decades creating a major threat to the survival of fauna and flora and overall human existence. These changes in the environmental setting have resulted into widespread social and economic hardships on the farming community and the economy in general.

96. According to the text of the proposal, the overall goal of the project is to equip inhabitants of semi arid areas with appropriate techniques to conserve their environment in a “participatory approach” whereby the community will plant and manage trees through establishment of tree nurseries and eventually plant the tree seedling on their farms and water catchments

97. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a three (3) year period, is estimated at US$1,731,267 and the contribution sought from PGTF amounts to US$1,026,200. A breakdown of the total cost is as follows:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Social & resource mobilization	62,708	()	()
Reclaim land & increase groundwater recharge	23,278	()	()
Develop water harvesting & reservoirs	119,776	()	()
Implement agro-forestry technology system	496,050	()	()

(*) No breakdown was provided in the supporting documentation

98. In the light of the information provided, the Committee considered that both the scope and activities of the proposal correspond to a national project, which is not eligible for funding as stated in guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF resources. Moreover, the proposed project is a large one and the amount of resources required is well beyond the purview of PGTF.

99. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 9 - Preventing desertification by PEK/WAI/ASI initiative (PEK – Persons with Ecology Knowledge; WAI – Women Awake Initiative; ASI – Adaptable Skills Initiative)

100. The Community Integrated Development International (CIDI), a non-profit non-governmental organization based in Nairobi, Kenya, submitted directly the proposal. There is no reference to other participating countries in the supporting documentation.

101. According to the text of the proposal, the overall objective of the project is to reduce environmental degradation through soil/water/forest conservation targeting women to improve the living standards of the population within the catchments areas.

102. Total cost of the project, to be carried out in a two (2) year period, is estimated at US$ 952,000 and the contribution requested from PGTF amounts to US$ 787,700. A breakdown of the total cost is as follows:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Personnel	()	()	63,970
Travel & per diems	()	()	75,140

Total	787,700	164,300	952,000

(*) No breakdown was provided in the supporting documentation

103. The Committee considered that, in the light of the information provided, both the scope and activities of the proposal correspond to a national project, which is not eligible for funding as stated in guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF resources. In addition, the proposed project is a large one and the amount of resources required is well beyond the purview of PGTF.

104. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 10 - Training programme on micro finance sector development

105. The Islamic Chamber of Commerce and Industry, based in Karachi, Pakistan submitted this proposal through the Permanent Observer Mission of the Organization of the Islamic Conference (OIC) to the United Nations. Beneficiaries would be the 57 member countries of the Organization of the Islamic Conference.

106. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to carry out a training programme in Khartoum, Sudan, designed to create awareness on the micro finance sector and its effective use in alleviating poverty by providing poor with access to credit. The training programme aims at understanding the nexus between micro finance and poverty from the OIC member countries perspective in general and developing strategies for designing and developing micro finance services for poverty reduction in particular. Participants, which should preferably be actors or stakeholders already directly engaged in the relevant fields, would be exposed to the operation, monitoring and management of credit services, particularly those focused on women from deprived, destitute and disadvantaged groups in the region.

107. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a four (4) day period, is estimated at US$ 106,000 and the contribution sought from PGTF amounts to US$ 39,750. Other contributions would come from the submitting institution (US$ 14,150), the host country (US$18,100) and the Islamic Research and Training Institute (US$34,000). A breakdown of the total cost is provided below:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Personnel (consultants)	15,000	0	15,000
Travel and per diems	24,750	39,800	64,550
Training	0	24,100	24,100
Equipment and materials	0	2,000	2,000
Other	0	350	350
Total	39,750	66,250	106,000

108. The Committee noted that the proposal has government support as it received the approval of the Twenty-seventh Session of the Islamic Conference of Foreign Ministers (ICFM) held in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia in July 2000 (cf. Resolution 5/27-E), as required by guideline A(k) for utilization of the PGTF resources.

109. The Committee considered that this proposal complies in general with the guidelines for utilization of PGTF. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal avail from the financing of PGTF and that US$ 33,000 be allocated to this end. This contribution should be disbursed in one single tranche.

Project proposal No. 11 - Support to the Mercosur regional integration process

110. The Mercosur Economic Research Network (MercoNet), based in Montevideo, Uruguay, submitted directly the proposals. Participating countries would be Argentina, Brazil, Paraguay and Uruguay.

111. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to assist in defining the process of Latin America's growing participation in international politics based upon Mercosur's experience and MercoNet's contributions in economic research. The current international and regional context of international trade, the financial crisis, the slow progress in the Doha Round and new conceptions in Latin America about trade integration create both opportunities and challenges for the countries of the region. The final results expected are (a) the Regional Forum Mercosur 2008, (b) a series of policy-oriented documents, and (c) regional capacity building for economic research.

112. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a six (6) months period, is estimated at US$61,047 and the contribution sought from PGTF amounts to US$ 33,547. Other sources contribution would come from the International Development Research Center (IDRC) from Canada (US$ 27,500). A breakdown of the total cost is provided below:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Personnel (consultants)	5,000	()	()
Regional Forum	27,000	()	()
Other	1,547	()	()
Total	33,547	27,500	61,047

(*) No breakdown was provided in the supporting documentation

113. While the Committee noted that the other sources contribution is lower than the one requested from PGTF and, therefore, the maximum support that could be given to the project is equal to the other sources contribution (i.e. US$ 27,500), as established in guideline A(m) for utilization of PGTF resources, it considered that this proposal complies in general with the guidelines and is thus eligible for funding.

114. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal avail from the financing of PGTF and that US$ 21,000 be allocated to this end. This contribution should be disbursed in one single tranche.

Project proposal No. 12 - A review of TCDC/ECDC three decades of politics and implementation procedures focusing on the coordination, integration, partnership, ownership (NEX), impact and long term sustainability with assessment of the adequacy of technical assistance input from both North and South

115. Ms. Victoria Taiwo Obasaju-Ayo, from Nigeria, submitted directly the proposal. The project would be implemented by herself and Prof. Parakoyi, from the College of Medicine of the University of Illorin, Kwara State, Nigeria. Participating countries would be Cameroon, Ethiopia, Ghana, Lesotho, Nigeria and Sierra Leone.

116. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to carry out a review of TCDC/ECDC projects implemented from 1978 to date in order to assess the status of coordination, integration, partnership, ownership of both the policies and implementation procedures, impact and long-term sustainability with assessment of the adequacy of technical assistance input from both North and South. In particular, the project aims at (a) identifying gaps in technological transfer and making recommendations on findings to improve coordination, ownership and overall project effectiveness, and (b) reviewing evaluations conducted that are relevant to TCDC/ECDC at the country level by UNDP, FAO, USAID, DFID, EU, GTZ, Missions and other agencies to prevent duplication of efforts and achieve more integration, application and relevance of recommendations by diverse stakeholders at all levels in the TCDC/ECDC countries and by bilateral agencies, NGOs, CBOs, CSOs and missions project.

117. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a three (3) year period, is estimated at US$185,000. The contribution requested from PGTF amounts to US$40,000 per annum, as indicated in the summary pages of the proposal. This implies that total contribution requested would be US$ 120,000 for the implementation period, but it is not clearly stated in the text of the proposal.

118. The Committee noted that this proposal is an update of the one submitted in 2006. On that occasion, the Committee considered that it was not possible to ascertain the cooperative element of the project, as required by the guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF, since the supporting documentation did not contain any written endorsements by potential beneficiary or participating countries. This update of the proposal brings into the picture the Justice, Development and Peace Commission (JDPC) from Nigeria and Caritas, a charitable organization present in 192 countries, as the vehicle for interacting with other participating countries. However, the supporting documentation indicated that this organization is willing to make the necessary contacts to enlist other countries' participation through its international network, but no there are no actual indications of interest or endorsement. The Committee wished to reiterate that participation of other countries in cooperative projects has to be secured prior to the consideration of the proposal by the Committee and not afterwards. Guideline A (f) for utilization of PGTF resources states very clearly this fact and has been consistently applied by the Committee in its consideration of proposals.

119. In addition, shortcomings of the proposal regarding lack of clarity on whether the requested contribution is US$ 40,000 or an annual contribution of this amount over the proposed three years of project implementation, as well as the inconsistencies between detailed and summary budget figures have not been corrected. Because of the confusing information regarding the actual amount of the contribution requested, it was not possible to verify compliance with guideline A(m), which establishes that inputs from other sources should be of an amount at least equal to the resources requested from PGTF. If the contribution requested were US$ 40,000 per annum, i.e. a total of US$ 120,000, as indicated in the summary pages of the proposal and total project cost is US$ 185,000, inputs from other sources would amount to US 65,000 and the matching funds condition would not be fulfilled.

120. The Committee therefore considered that this proposal does not comply with several of the guidelines for utilization of PGTF and is not eligible for funding. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 13 - Training and preparation of youth for democratic sustenance leadership and for professional manpower development through mentoring

121. Ms. Victoria Taiwo Obasaju-Ayo, from Nigeria, submitted directly the proposal. The project would be implemented by herself and Prof. Parakoyi, from the College of Medicine of the University of Illorin, Kwara State, Nigeria. Participating countries would be Cameroon, Ethiopia, Ghana, Lesotho, Nigeria and Sierra Leone.

122. According to the text of the proposal, the project aims at (a) strengthening youth participation in democratic sustenance and improving their professional competence to enhance employment in high skilled jobs to improve national economic status, promote partnership and investment, and (b) reducing by 50 percent the share of youth unpreparedness in employments that require special skills and experience through mentoring of youth to develop their technical know how and interpersonal skills and through exposure to participatory learning procedures of Shared Educating and Learning for Life (S.E.L.L.).

123. The project would be implemented over a three (3) year period and in the supporting documentation there is lack of clarity regarding the actual cost of the project and contribution requested from PGTF. While some of the summary figures refer to a total cost of US$ 125,000 and a contribution from PGTF of US$ 45,000, other summary figures indicate that the cost is US$ 125,000 per annum and the contribution requested from PGTF is US$ 45,000 per annum. In addition, there are inconsistencies between the summary figures and the detailed budget figures, where a US$ 122,000 PGTF contribution is requested for a two year period (i.e. US$ 55,000 for the first year and US$ 67,000 for the second one).

124. The Committee noted that this proposal is also an update of a previous one submitted in 2006. On that occasion the Committee considered that the proposal was incomplete, in addition to not complying with guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF and therefore not providing for a cooperative component in the project.

125. The update submitted, as in the case of project proposal No. 12 above, brings also the JDPC from Nigeria and Caritas into the picture, as a vehicle for enlisting participation of other developing countries. Here again, there is an indication of the willingness of Caritas to do so, but there is no actual evidence of written endorsements. The view of the Committee is similar to the one regarding project proposal No. 12.

126. The Committee noted inconsistency in budget figures and confusion regarding the actual contribution requested from PGTF. In the light of the above, the Committee considered that this proposal does not comply with several of the guidelines for utilization of PGTF and is not thus eligible for funding.

127. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 14 - Promotion of consumer protection in the Caribbean

128. The Caribbean Consumer Council, a non-governmental organization based in Castries, St. Lucia, submitted directly the proposal. Participating countries would be the member countries of CARICOM.

129. According to the text of proposal, the project aims at (a) strengthening the capacity of consumer organizations and government agencies in the Caribbean, and (b) strengthening the regional knowledge base by investing in consumer education. Main activities include training of consumer agencies' personnel in (i) model building and data analysis, (ii) consumer protection policy, (iii) management and financing of their organizations, and (iv) campaigning methods, as well as the creation of the Caribbean Consumer Council website and database.

130. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a two (2) year period, is estimated at US$45,000, the totality of which is the contribution sought from PGTF. A breakdown of the total cost is as follows:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Training (seminars/workshops)	35,800	0	35,800
Website development & maintenance	6,000	0	6,000
Database development	3,200	0	3,200
Total	45,000	0	45,000

131. The Committee considered that this proposal does not comply with two of the guidelines for utilization of PGTF resources: (a) It was not possible to ascertain the cooperative component of the project, as required by guideline A(f), since the supporting documentation contains no written evidence of support from any of the potential participants or beneficiaries; and (b) The project contains no inputs from other sources and therefore does not comply with guideline A(m), which requires that project sponsors should secure inputs from other sources of an amount at least equal to the resources requested from PGTF.

132. The Committee therefore recommended that this project proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 15 - International Youth Leadership Training for Promotion of South-South Cooperation - 3rd Study Session and Training

133. The United Nations Youths and Students Association of Togo (UNYSAT-AJENU), based in Lome, Togo, submitted directly the proposal. Participating countries would be Algeria, Antigua and Barbuda, Bahamas, Belize, Chile, Cuba, Dominica, Ghana, Grenada, Guyana, Haiti, Indonesia, Jamaica, Liberia, Mozambique, Nigeria, Palestine, St. Lucia, St. Kitts and Nevis, St. Vincent and the Grenadines, Suriname, Trinidad and Tobago, United Republic of Tanzania, and Zimbabwe.

134. This project is a follow up of a two previous projects funded by PGTF (cf. projects INT/03/K09 and INT/06/K07 in Annex II). The 1st International Youth Leadership Training for the Promotion of South-South Cooperation Study Session held in Lagos in 1999 (project INT/03/K09) saw the project participating organizations declare their "commitments to take actions in order to promote South-South cooperation". The actions indicated, among others, include strategic trainings at all levels as a follow-up. The 2nd Youth Leadership Training & Study Session was organized in Barbados in 2006 (project

INT/06/K07) to engage youth organizations of the South in the systematic follow up to the UN Conference on Financing for Development and the World Summit on Sustainable Development. The proposed project would correspond to the 3rd Study Session and Training.

135. According to the text of the proposal, the objectives of the project are: (a) to engage youth organizations of the South in the strategic follow up to the World Summit on the Information Society (phase 1 and 2); and (b) to further South-South cooperation initiatives for financing sustainable development, greener economics and poverty eradication.. Participants in the study sessions and training would be some 60 students and youth organization leaders from the abovementioned countries.

136. Total cost of the project, to be carried out over a six (6) months period, is estimated at US$164,562 and the contribution requested from PGTF amounts to US$45,000. A breakdown of the total cost is provided below:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Travel	3,000	()	()
Training	37,000	()	()
Documentation & reporting	5,000	()	()
Total	45,000	119,562	164,562

(*) No breakdown was provided in the supporting documentation

137. As indicated in the proposal, this project is a follow up of projects INT/98/K07, completed in September 2000, and INT/06/K07, completed in September 2006. According to guideline B(f) for utilization of PGTF resources, follow up projects can only be considered after completion of the previous one, which is the case for this proposal.

138. The Committee considered that this proposal does not comply with two guidelines for utilization of PGTF resources. Firstly, the proposal was not submitted through the host country's focal point for ECDC/TCDC or national competent authority, as appropriate, as stated in guideline A(n). Even though the supporting documentation indicated that endorsement from the government of the host country was forthcoming, the submitting entity was unable to provide an endorsement letter on time for consideration by the Committee. Secondly, the proposal does not comply with guideline A(f), which requires that the cooperative element of the project be established through written evidence of interest in or participation of the potential beneficiaries. The supporting documentation contained the outcomes of the previous two projects and a list of prospective participating youth organizations, but failed to include written endorsements from these organizations. The Committee wished to highlight that the proposal submitted in 2005 for consideration (that later became project INT/06/K07) contained all the required written endorsements and was supported by PGTF.

139. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 16 - Implementation of occupational health and safety management systems OHSAS (18001) for central electricity generating company

140. The Permanent Mission of Jordan to the United Nations submitted the proposal. The Office of the Chairman of the Group of 77 received the transmittal letter with the title of the project proposal, but the text of the proposal was never provided. This incomplete proposal cannot be appraised and the Committee therefore recommended that it should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

141. The abovementioned transmittal letter also included the titles of seven other project proposals, the texts of which were never forwarded for consideration by the Committee. The titles of these proposals are provided below:

Project proposal No.17 - Implementation of an environmental management system for Aqaba and Rehab Power Stations that meets ISO 14000, General Guidelines for EMS

Project proposal No. 18 - Flame arrestor

Project proposal No. 19 - Technical cooperation among Jordan, Egypt and Syria in the field of biodiesel

Project proposal No. 20 - Serving Bedouins at remote areas in Jordan with potable water through mobile solar photovoltaic powered reverse osmosis unit

Project proposal No. 21 - Technical and economic assessment of a photovoltaic grid-connected system in Jordan through a pilot project

Project proposal No. 22 - Lighting a public garden in Jordan using solar photovoltaic energy

Project proposal No. 23 - Small-scale photovoltaic powered systems for lighting and TV uses for the Bedouins at remote areas in Jordan

142. As in the case of project proposal No. 16, these proposals cannot be appraised and the Committee therefore recommended that they should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Project proposal No. 24 - South American inter-laboratories network for standardization and accreditation of value-added textile products made with fibers from South American camelids in Argentina, Bolivia and Peru

143. The Technical Office of the Technological Innovation Centers (CITE), under the Ministry of Production of Peru, submitted the proposal through the Permanent Mission of Peru to the United Nations. Other participating countries would be Argentina and Bolivia..

144. According to the text of the proposal, the objectives of the project are: (a) to promote a quality management system among Alpaca breeders and in the textile-clothing production chain, and (b) to strengthen services rendered by the laboratories thus facilitating their accreditation under the international ISO standard 17025, through the establishment of an inter-laboratory network of textiles made of South American camelids fibers.

145. Total cost of the project, to be carried out in twelve (12) months, is estimated at US$ 86,753, and the contribution requested from PGTF amounts to US$ 43,273. Other sources of contributions would be the Government of Peru (US$ 19,720) and other counterparts (US$ 23,760). A breakdown of the total cost is provided below:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Personnel	18,000	0	18,000
Travel	24,845	0	24,845
Workshops	0	28,380	28,380

Other	428	0	428
Total	43,273	43,480	86,753

146. The Committee considered that this proposal complies in general with the guidelines for utilization of PGTF and is thus eligible for funding. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal avail from the financing of PGTF and that US$ 33,000 be allocated to this end. This contribution should be disbursed in two tranches, disbursement of the second tranche being submitted to the timely submission of the relevant substantive and financial reports.

Project proposal No. 25 - Implementation of the Electronic Vote Observatory in Latin America

147. The National Office of Electoral Processes of Peru submitted the proposal through the Permanent Mission of Peru to the United Nations. Other participating countries would be Colombia and Costa Rica.

148. Electronic voting solutions are increasingly gaining place in the agenda of democratic governments. The main reasons behind this innovation reside in the advantages of the system, such as elimination of null votes, significant reduction of material errors and especially the reduction in the time required for tallying votes and delivering results. Several countries in Latin America have already proved electronic voting solutions, including a fifteen-year experience in Brazilian elections and automation of the basic steps in Mexico, Paraguay and Venezuela.

149. However, the Latin American region shows heterogeneous efforts, and a great need to share information, exchange experiences, as well as the results of studies, case analyses, statistics and news that can contribute to improve the strategies around electronic voting in the region. The proposed project aims at organizing this information in a day-to-day service, which can enable sharing of best practices and interconnect all electoral organizations, political parties and professionals interested in electronic voting issues.

150. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to design, organize and launch operations of a resource center named “Latin American Observatory of Electronic Vote”. It will be a virtual space to store specialized information, promote the exchange of experiences, and disseminate the latest experiences in the utilization of electronic voting solutions in Latin America and the world.

151. Total cost of the project, to be carried out in twelve (12) months, is estimated at US$90,000 and the contribution sought from PGTF amounts to US$ 45,000. A breakdown of the total cost is as follows:

Item	Total contribution (US$)
	PGTF	Other	Total
Travel	2,400	()	()
Research & information gathering	15,000	()	()
Training	1,600	()	()

Total	45,000	45,000	90,000

152. The Committee considered that this proposal complies in general with the guidelines for utilization of PGTF and is thus eligible for funding. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal avail from the financing of PGTF and that US$ 34,000 be allocated to this end. This contribution should be disbursed in two tranches, disbursement of the second tranche being submitted to the timely submission of the relevant substantive and financial reports.

Project proposal No. 26 - Exchange of Experiences on Assistance Services for Exporters and Utilization of Technological Tools for Supporting Export-promotion organizations in the Andean Region

153. PROMPERU, the Trade Promotion Agency of Peru, under the Ministry of Foreign Trade and Tourism, submitted the proposal through the Permanent Mission of Peru to the United Nations. Other participating countries would be Bolivia, Colombia, Chile and Ecuador.

157. The Cuban Institute for Research on Sugar Cane by-Products (ICIDCA), based in Havana, Cuba, submitted the proposal through the Permanent Mission of Cuba to the United Nations. Other participating countries would be Brazil and Nicaragua.

158. In a number of developing countries, the prevailing level of fossil fuels prices has encouraged the production of sugarcane-based ethanol as an attractive alternative to fossil fuels. However, one of the main drawbacks in ethanol production is the production of distillery slops when the main product is distilled, and every sugarcane ethanol-producing country is struggling with slops treatment. In this regard, microbial protein production has been recently proposed in light of the bio-ethanol production explosion, and as a way of converting a polluting waste into a highly demanded commodity protein.

159. According to the text of the proposal, the main objective of the project is to provide procedures for a significant reduction of the organic load (i.e. polluting potential) of distillery slops by the simultaneous production of microbial biomass protein for animal feeding.

189. In mid-2006 the BPOC in partnership with the UNDP conducted a capacity building for peace, initially in 21 insurgency affected “barangays” (communities), with the government and civil society sectors as trainers and peace advocates. At the end of the year, a Workshop for Peace and Development trained and organized some 300 local peace builders, now equipped with skills to address their own issues causing conflicts in their respective communities. In order to sustain the fruits and victories of the collaborative peace efforts, the issues for unrest causing the conflicts need to be addressed, and the number one in the list is the lack of livelihood opportunities.

190. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to support two small income-generating livelihood projects, (a) an agro-based named “Share a kid for peace”, relating to goat production and (b) a micro-enterprise livelihood project named “Ambit Negosyo para sa Kalinaw”, done by providing a minimal capital to micro home-based enterprises of poor families in the conflict affected communities.

191. Total cost of the project is estimated at US$ 74,570 and the contribution requested from PGTF amounts to US$ 42,571. 194. The Bohol Provincial Government from the Philippines submitted the proposal through its Permanent Mission to the United Nations. No other participating countries are mentioned in the supporting documentation.

195. The coastal waters area in the province of Bohol in the Philippines is one-and-a-half times larger than the land area. However, Bohol's natural wealth has been subjected to a variety of undesirable practices and their consequences, such as destructive fishing methods, overfishing, siltation and simple lack of management. The rapid degradation of resources has resulted in an equally rapid reduction in their ability to produce food and other benefits that the Bohol's inhabitants have enjoyed for centuries.

196. According to the text of the proposal, the objectives of the project are: (a) to curb illegal activities within the coastal waters of the Province of Bohol, (b) to provide employment opportunities and alternative livelihoods to the affected communities, most particularly the households formerly practicing illegal fishing and rebels returnees in need of employment/livelihood, (c) to ensure the sustainability of natural aquamarine resources throughout the Province of Bohol, (d) to encourage private sector investment and participation in key aspects of mari-culture zone operations and in the overall protection of the environment.

205. The Center for Health Development of the Davao Region in the Philippines submitted the proposal through its Permanent Mission to the United Nations. No other participating countries are mentioned in the supporting documentation.

206. The modern natural family planning (NFP) methods have been recognized as effective along with other family planning methods promoted by the Philippine Government. However, despite their effectiveness their acceptance has been very low due in part to the low level of technical expertise and confidence on NFP among health providers and other volunteer workers.

207. According to the text of the proposal, the objectives of the project are (a) to train on modern NFP methods the health service providers and volunteer workers with a view to capacitating and equipping them on NFP service provision, and (b) to discuss plans and actions aimed at strengthening the NFP programmes.

211. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Antigua and Barbuda submitted directly the proposal. Other participating countries would be St. Lucia and St. Vincent and the Grenadines.

212. Many small island developing states are constantly under threat from invasive and/or alien species, which involve threats to biodiversity, agriculture and human health. Many of these species are introduced to the countries by means of trade of agricultural products as well as the importation of live species for landscaping within the tourism industry. The proposed project will focus on the identification and eradication in Antigua and Barbuda of the Giant African Snail, which is known to be the vector of the Rat Long Worm, a parasite which can cause the development of meningitis in humans. Although the actual pathway for introduction of the snail is unknown, it is most likely to occur via the process of trade in food and other agricultural products with other countries such as St. Lucia and St. Vincent and the Grenadines.

213. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is to identify invasive and alien species that threaten disruption of trade among Eastern Caribbean countries. To this end, activities of the project involve (a) to conduct public awareness and research activities in St. Lucia and St. Vincent and the Grenadines aimed at determining whether the snails are present in these countries, (b) to conduct and document an eradication programme in Antigua and Barbuda, and (c) to prepare a report on the possible pathways of the species and disseminate this information to all other Eastern Caribbean states (Dominica, Grenada and St. Kitts and Nevis).

Nations. Other participating countries would be Argentina, Costa Rica, Ecuador, El Salvador, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Trinidad and Tobago, and Uruguay.

218. Electrical metrology is important for the evaluation of the performance of a large number of manufactured goods that utilize electrical technology; the performance of the electrical power transmission and distribution network of each country; and the security and quality of the communications network. All the measurements of the electrical quantities involved need to be reliable and traceable to a National Metrology Institute (NMI) in each country, this traceability being ensured by periodic calibrations of the industry standards both nationally and internationally through the respective regional metrology organizations (RMOs). In Latin America and the Caribbean, the RMO is the Inter American Metrology System (SIM), which resulted from a broad agreement among the national metrology organizations of all 34 member countries of the Organization of American States. The SIM has a working group dealing with electrical measurements, named the SIM Electricity and Magnetism Working Group (SIM EMWG).

219. According to the text of the proposal, the objective of the project is the training and capacity building in the field of electrical metrology of representatives of ten (10) countries, members of the SIM EMWG. To this end, activities of the project include (a) organization of an annual meeting of the SIM EMWG, (b) tutorials on electrical metrology by international consultants and experts, and (c) participation in the VIII International Seminar on Electrical Metrology, to be held in the city of Joan Pessoa/Paraiba in June 2009.

Total	45,000	185,000	230,000

226. The Committee considered that it was not possible to ascertain the cooperation element of the project since, as stated in guideline A(f) for utilization of PGTF resources, for nationally-executed projects the cooperative element should be established through written evidence of interest in or participation of other developing countries. Even though the supporting documentation identifies 19 other prospective participating countries, it does not contain a single letter of endorsement. The transmittal letter of the proposal indicated that these letters were forthcoming, but they were not provided in time for consideration by the Committee.

227. The Committee therefore recommended that this proposal should not avail from the financing of PGTF.

Budget increase for project INT/00/K08 – “Support to the Committee of Experts – Phase III”

228. In 2006 the budget of project INT/00/K08, which provides support to the work of the Committee of Experts, was increased by US$75,000. Maximum disbursements of US$ 30,000 in 2007 and US$ 40,000 in 2008 were approved with a view to providing the resources to hold up to a maximum of two meetings of the Committee per year, as established in guideline B(i) for utilization of PGTF resources. This allocation was based on actual costs of the meetings of the Committee, which averaged US$ 15,000 per meeting from 1998 to 2005, but increased to US$ 18,000 in 2006 and US$ 20,000 in 2007.

229. The cost per meeting has increased to US$ 22,500 in 2008 as a result of the significant increase in airfares, in spite of the fact that experts travel on the most economical routes as a means of keeping costs at the bare minimum. In addition, expenses to be incurred in the fund-raising effort aimed at increasing PGTF resources and expenses related to the dissemination of the results of PGTF-funded projects, in particular through digitalization of paper-based reports and preparation of brochures, require an additional allocation of US$10,000 for 2009.

230. Actual expenditures in 2008 (i.e. holding of Committee meetings plus fund-raising and dissemination related expenses) would be around US$25,000 and cash available at beginning of 2008 was

US 5,000. Therefore the remaining balance from last year's US$40,000 allocation would some US$ 20,000. It would then be necessary to make a new allocation of US$35,000 for 2009 in order to be able to provide funding to a maximum of two meetings of the Committee (at a cost per meeting of US$22,500) and to the abovementioned fund-raising and dissemination effort. (US$ 10,000).

231. Since the budget increase of US$ 75,000 approved in 2006 has been entirely depleted following the allocations for 2007 and 2008 (i.e. a total of US$ 70,000), the Committee recommended a further budget increase of US$ 75,000, which would be sufficient to cover estimated expenses for 2009-2010.

232. As indicated in last year's report, it would be necessary to examine the situation every year in order to calculate the required allocation (i.e. US$22,500 when only one meeting is held and US$ 45,000 in the event of two meetings).

233. The Committee therefore recommended that the budget of project INT/00/K08 be increased by US$ 75,000, with a maximum disbursement of US$ 35,000 in 2009 and, to this end, to allocate this amount from PGTF resources.

SUMMARY OF PROJECT PROPOSALS RECOMMENDED FOR ADOPTION

234. In summary, the Committee recommended that the following fourteen (14) new project proposals plus a budget increase for an existing project avail from the financing of PGTF and resources allocated to this end amount to US$ 483,000. A breakdown of this total is provided below:

	TOTAL	483,000

235. According to the information provided by UNDP, total available resources for funding new project proposals in 2008 amount to approximately US$506,800. This amount includes the projected interest earnings from 1 January to 31 December 2008. A detailed breakdown of the financial status of PGTF is provided in Annex IV.

236. Total resources requested by the eligible proposals recommended for adoption shown in the table above are US$ 606,000. Since this amount exceeded the resources available, the Committee, in accordance with the provisions of guideline B(b) for utilization of PGTF, made an allocation of resources to these projects on the basis of priorities derived from the specific merits of the proposals, country and regional coverage, and equitable geographical distribution.

IV. ASSESSMENT OF THE IMPLEMENTATION OF APPROVED PROJECTS

237. The Committee examined the status of implementation of projects adopted by the 20th, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st Annual Meetings of Ministers for Foreign Affairs, held in New York respectively in September 1996, September 1998, September 1999, September 2000, September 2002, September 2003, September 2004, September 2005, September 2006, and September 2007.

249. On 31 July 2003, the Andean Community secretariat informed that the first phase of the project, related to the development of an Andean Trademarks Consultation System, had been completed. 250. On 3 June 2004, the Andean Community secretariat requested a modification of the originally approved project activities and a budget revision, in order to carry out the second phase of the project. This revision entailed modifications in the various cost items of the project budget within the existing total approved contribution to the project, namely US$50,000. Other inputs to the project would be the contribution by the Andean Community secretariat, which was increased to US$60,815.

251. The Committee considered that the proposed modification to the project activities, including the budget revision for the second phase, would result in a more meaningful project for the benefit of the participating countries and approved the project activities modification and budget revision. The Committee requested the Office of the Chairman to inform the Andean Community secretariat and the UNDP of this decision.

252. The Andean Community secretariat submitted in April 2005 a progress report on expenditure incurred so far. 266. On 21 June 2004 the UNDP sent a request for a progress report and financial statement. A progress report was received on 28 June 2004.

267. Following a request for reports from the UNDP, on 16 June 2005 the UNDP country office in Kenya informed that the NGO in Botswana did not receive the approved funds and that, due to the delay involved, a new authorization from UNDP headquarters was needed in order to make the disbursement to the NGO in Botswana.

268. In the light of the information provided, the Committee considered that since funds were disbursed to three NGOs (Cameroon, Kenya and Niger), these NGOs should submit progress reports of project activities undertaken so far, and requested the UNDP to forward this request to the country office in Kenya. With regard to project activities in Botswana, the Committee requested that the new authorization be issued only after a satisfactory update of project activities in this country be prepared and submitted to UNDP.

269. The sub-contractor for Kenya (the NGO Forest Action Network) submitted a progress report on 6 June 2006. The Committee requested UNDP to follow up on this project.

271. On 5 July 2001, the UNDP authorized the UNDP country office in Mali to disburse US$31,500 to the subcontractor. A progress report was received on 14 October 2002.

272. No further information has been received and on 14 June 2005 the UNDP requested again a report on the status of the project. The Committee requested the UNDP to follow on this matter with the UNCCD Secretariat.

273. The Committee noted that the last progress report was received in October 2002 and expressed concern over the difficulties faced in obtaining reports on implementation of the project in spite of the repeated requests made. The Committee also noted a similar situation for four (4) other projects that have been implemented with the assistance of the UNCCD Secretariat, namely INT/99/K14, INT/00/K07, INT/00/K12 and INT/00/K13.

274. In the light of the above, the Committee recommended that the Chairman of the Group of 77 approaches directly the UNCCD Secretariat and requests its cooperation in assisting the implementing NGOs in preparing the required reports for these five projects, the activities of which should already have been completed given the time elapsed since the beginning of their implementation.

275. Following a direct inquiry by the Chairman of the Group of 77 through a letter dated 21 November 2007, the UNCCD Executive Secretary indicated that the October 2002 progress report provided information on the utilization of resources from all contributors, including the PGTF. Due to security concerns stemming from the rebellion occurring in this border area, the implementation of the project has been suspended for the last two years. On 24 July 2008, the Office of the Chairman was informed that a report containing an overall update of the project had been sent by pouch.

277. On 28 June 2000 the UNDP authorized its Resident Representative in Burkina Faso to disburse US$31,500 (90% of the PGTF contribution) to the project. A request for a progress report was sent on 6 April 2001 and a reminder was faxed on 2 May 2001. Follow up with UNCCD on 30 July 2002. A progress report was received on 14 October 2002.

278. No further information has been received and on 14 June 2005 the UNDP requested again a report on the status of the project. The Committee requested the UNDP to follow on this matter with the UNCCD Secretariat.

279. Following a direct inquiry by the Chairman of the Group of 77 through a letter dated 21 November 2007, the Executive Secretary of the UNCCD informed on 21 July 2008 that implementation of this project had been completed in December 2002, and the following activities had been carried out: (a) Consolidation of the training in management, (b) Strengthening of the trans-boundary committee for management of the shared resources, (c) Strengthening of working capitals, and (d) Drilling of water wells.

280. The NGO in charge of the project had the responsibility of forwarding the substantive and financial reports through the respective UNDP country office. The Committee requested the UNDP to follow up on this matter with the UNDP country office in Burkina Faso.

(8) EPPP - Electronic Prototype Production Project in Ethiopia

281. Submitter: The National Scientific Equipment Centre (NSEC) of the Ethiopian Science and Technology Commission
Subcontractor: NSEC
Priority area: Technology
Participating/beneficiary countries: 3 countries (Ethiopia, United Republic of Tanzania, and Zimbabwe)
PGTF input: US$40,000
Other inputs: US$200,000
Number: INT/00/K02
Duration: Two years.
Approval: 24th Annual Ministerial Meeting of the Group of 77 (New York, 15 September 2000)

Date of signature of relevant documents: The project document was signed by the Government of Ethiopia on 12 April 2001 and by the UNDP on 1 February 2001.

282. On 15 May 2001, the UNDP authorized the UNDP country office in Ethiopia to disburse US$36,000 to the sub-contractor and the disbursement was made on 21 May 2001. A request for a progress report and financial statement was sent by the UNDP in July 2002.

283. On 26 August 2002, the subcontractor replied that the project activities have been rescheduled to take place from August 2002 to July 2003. No PGTF resources had been expended for this project as of August 2002. The Committee recommended that a request for a progress report and financial statement be sent to the subcontractor.

284. Requests for progress reports and financial statements were sent by the UNDP in August and October 2003 and on 8 and 18 June 2004. At its nineteenth meeting in 2004, the Committee requested the UNDP to continue its follow-up on this matter.

285. The sub-contractor, NSEC, informed on 16 June 2005 that the project was still to be implemented due to several reasons, which mainly related to the unavailability of funds from other sources (estimated at US$200,000) intended to be used for acquisition of equipment, and to changes in management at NSEC that created an information gap and slowed down progress in the project. According to the NSEC report, disbursed funds (US$36,000) were held in local currency at a government held account and, even though there had been no expenditures, due to currency fluctuations the amount available was equivalent to US$34,740.

286. NSEC submitted a proposal to restructure the project, where in essence activities have been scaled down to take care of fewer overall resources. In the light of the information submitted, the Committee at its twentieth meeting was of the view that the sub-contractor should resubmit a new draft project document on the basis of the proposed restructuring of the project. However, in the proposal submitted by NSEC there is no clear indication of funds coming from other sources, which according to guideline A(m) for utilization of PGTF should be at least equal to PGTF contribution. Therefore, approval of the revised project document was subject to the condition that the sub-contractor clearly identified and secured funds from other sources of at least US$ 40,000, which is the amount allocated by PGTF to this project.

287. Following the recommendation of the Committee, NSEC submitted a revised draft project document. In particular, the Committee was of the view that the proposed other sources' input (US$ 100,000) was reasonable, both in size and structure, and therefore it complied with the proviso established by the Committee. The Government of Ethiopia and the UNDP signed the revised project document respectively on 24 February 2006 and on 1 March 2006, thereby restarting implementation of the project.

288. The subcontractor submitted a progress report on 14 June 2007.

(9) Trans-border Pilot Project in Mali, Burkina Faso and Niger (Azaouak)
